Out of date

To Whom It May Concern:

Not specifically addressed to school

The Atlanta Chapter of the Agriculture Organization wishes to express its support for the Agriculture and Technology Academy (ATA). After the privilege of speaking with your school leader, we applaud the leadership of this undertaking, and we look forward to supporting your efforts, should you be successful in this next step.

Nature of partnership is vague

We see the benefit for a school like this in the ever-changing field of agriculture. As agriculture becomes more and more technologically driven, the need for innovation and growth expands and changes. The Agriculture Organization maintains a robust number of programs aimed towards the K-12 age group, including day camps and competitions, curriculum, and classroom support. We think that these programs will be a great opportunity for ATA to implement and will help address the need for innovation in this area.

Lack of specificity regarding what services will actually be provided

The Agriculture Organization continues to recommit itself to more diversity in the profession, and we hope that your efforts to establish ATA will bolster the long-term impacts in architecture and design. Our environment will be served best by having our members hail from a wide variety of backgrounds and experiences, and we look forward to closely working with you on this initiative. The success of our business is in direct correlation with the success of our community, and we believe that the Atlanta-based Agriculture and Technology Academy is aligning with these efforts.

Best wishes on the pursuit of creating such a groundbreaking center for learning. We are confident in your team's ability to create an innovative school environment for the students of Atlanta.

Sincerely,

President
Atlanta Chapter of the Agriculture Organization
