6. Ms. Kristen Easterbrook, New Charter Program Manager, gave an update on new school openings. Two schools have delayed opening till the 2020 school year. Three new charter schools will be opening this fall. In addition, two schools have transitioned from locally approved to state approved charter schools and will be opening in the 2019 school year as SCSC schools. Ms. Easterbrook also noted that SCSC staff will be monitoring and visiting the newly opened schools in the coming months to help ensure their success.
7. Ms. Rennie Laryea, Organizational Development Manager, then reviewed the supports offered to new schools, tenured schools, and school leadership for this upcoming year. She described the various trainings that the SCSC will be hosting including Governors Board Training, New School Orientation, Financial Management Certification Program, and the Academic Summit.
8. Chairman Lewis then proceeded to the Action Items and asked Ms. Kristen Easterbrook, New Charter Program Manager, to give an overview of the recommendation process for start-up charter school petitions. Ms. Easterbrook gave an overview on the process and introduced the recommendation for the first school.

9. Ms. Easterbrook reviewed the recommendation for Amana Academy West. Following the recommendation, the school had five minutes to present. The executive director of Amana Academy West discussed the school's excitement to replicate their flagship school and start serving a new population in Fulton County. Commissioner Lowden moved to approve, and Commissioner Brockway seconded the motion. The vote to approve was unanimous.

10. Ms. Easterbrook reviewed the recommendation for Atlanta SMART Academy. Following the recommendation, the school had five minutes to present. The school leader of Atlanta SMART discussed the school's goal to provide a high-quality school option to southwest Atlanta through its project-based learning model with a focus on science, math, and arts. Commissioner Lowden moved to approve, and Commissioner Williams seconded the motion. The vote to approve was unanimous.

11. Ms. Easterbrook reviewed the recommendation for Atlanta Unbound Academy. Following the recommendation, the school had five minutes to present. A representative from Atlanta Unbound highlighted the school's mission of focusing on social-emotional learning coupled with a culturally relevant approach to teaching. Commissioner Hill moved to approve, and Commissioner Brockway seconded the motion. Commissioner Hill then asked the school leader to elaborate on the school's interpretation of cultural relevancy. A vote was then called. The vote to approve was unanimous.

12. Ms. Easterbrook reviewed the recommendation for Collegiate Academy of Albany. Following the recommendation, the school had five minutes to present. A representative from the school spoke to the board's desire to create a quality school option in Albany with a rigorous college-preparatory curriculum. Commissioner Williams moved to approve, and Commissioner Brockway seconded the motion. Commissioner Lowden expressed a desire that the school maintain its focus of serving the low-income students of Albany and not lose sight of its overall mission. A vote was then called. The vote to approve was unanimous.

13. Ms. Easterbrook reviewed the recommendation for Delta STEAM Academy. Following the recommendation, the school had five minutes to present. A school representative outlined the school's focus in science, technology, engineering, arts, and math education with a focus on community and cultural responsiveness.
